Explore Options at CPS' Magnet School Showcase

Cincinnati Public Schools will host its Magnet School Showcase on Tuesday, October 27, 2009, for families interested in learning more about the district's seven magnet elementary programs.

Families can browse among booths from the various magnet elementary schools, and staff will be available to talk to families about what the magnet schools offer.

The Magnet School Showcase runs from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. October 27, 2009, at CPS' Education Center, 2651 Burnet Avenue, in Corryville.

The magnet application period for the 2010-11 school year begins in November.

CPS' magnet programs, offered at several elementary schools throughout the district, attract students with different interests and learning patterns. Choices include different teaching styles – such as Montessori and Paideia – and a variety of content areas – such as foreign language, the arts, and science and math.
